Given for the benefit of the Red Cross drive for funds in Hancock County and sponsored by the Bay-Waveland Garden Club and the student body of St. Joseph Academy, the Minstrel to be held in St. Joseph Auditorium on next Monday evening, April 5th, at 8 o'clock promises an evening of riotous fun for those who are planning to attend.

MISS PEARL WEIR DIES AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

Miss Pearl Weir died at the home of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Moran at an early hour Monday morning. Miss Weir had been ill for scarcely a week and her death came as a shock to her family and her friends.

Funeral services for Miss Weir were held at 10:30 from the home with interment in Cedar Rest cemetery. Religious services were conducted by the Rev. Warwick Aiken, rector of Christ Episcopal Church, of which she was a member. Miss Weir sang in the church choir and one of her favorite hymns was "Nearer My God to Thee" and this was sung at the home by the members of the choir.

Miss Weir is survived by her sister Mrs. Moran, a brother Booklet Weir of Dallas, Texas but who is at this time in a hospital there and was unable to be present. She also has a cousin Lovick Mitchell.

She was a descendant of the fine old English family of Booklets who were among the pre-Civil War residents of this city. Mr. Booklet gave the right of way for a street to run through his property and the street was named for him—Booklet Street. Her mother was the former Miss Fannie Booklet and her father was William Weir.

Mr. and Mrs. Moran have made their home in Dallas for many years and a short time since Miss Weir and her brother went there to live but when Mr. and Mrs. Moran returned to Bay St. Louis she returned with them.

Her pallbearers were John K. Edwards, Octave Delph, Henry Colson, Vincent Lagree, E. S. Bates and L. H. McCormick.

Ladies of the Altar Society Present Canon Outfit to Pastor

Quite recently the Very Reverend A. J. Gmelch celebrated his Twenty-fifth Anniversary as Pastor of Our Lady of the Gulf Church.

In acknowledgment of his faithful and devoted service to his flock during these years, our Right Reverend Bishop has raised him to the dignity of Canon. This office entitles our dear Father to wear robes of a distinctive type in addition to the usual black cassock. These robes consist of a Mozzetta or Cape lined and edged with scarlet silk with buttons of same color. His biretta also has a silken tassel of corresponding hue. The Rochet is similar to the ordinary surplice, only with a deep lace and cuffs. The outfit in its entirety, including the replating of his Chalices, was presented to him through the generosity of parishioners who took this occasion to express their gratitude to their Reverend Pastor.

The presentation and investiture took place in the parlor of the rectory on the feast of Saint Joseph, the patron of our dear Pastor. The members of the Altar Society were present in a body on this happy occasion.

Father Gmelch expressed his deep appreciation to those who thought of him on this occasion, wearing his kindly smile and giving his blessing to each and every one. A long list of names of those who have generously contributed accompanied the gifts.

On Monday night, the regular meeting of the Council will be held and members are requested to be on time as the meeting will be short in order that everyone who desires may attend the minstrel show at St. Joseph Auditorium.

LIBRARY NOTES

The Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library is in receipt of two adult and four junior books from the Carnegie Minn Alcoue.

Our readers will enjoy reading "Here in Alaska" by Evelyn Stefanson and "Thomas Jefferson, World Citizen" by Elbert D. Thomas and the children will read with interest "Sunny Australia" by Lelia and Kilroy Harris, "Jorge's Journey" by Alice Curtis Desmond, "Americans Every One" by Lavenia Davis, and "Smoky Boy" by Steingrimur Arson.

The library has enrolled more than twenty new readers for the month for March and reading among the regular readers has increased. We take this time to thank our readers for their loyal support and for the care they take of books and the promptness with which books are being returned.

However, we must still remind those who are among the delinquents that over due books are expensive to the borrower and over time accrues. Watch the date on the white "Due" slip in your book and bring it back on time. You'll save pennies and can put them to your defense stamp purchases which is much better than paying fines.

Selective Service Appeal Board Acting Promptly On Appeal Cases

Appeal Boards of the state selective service system act acting promptly on appealed cases.

During the last meeting of appeal Board No. 6 at Hattiesburg, Mississippi, which receives appeals from Lawrence, Jefferson Davis, Covington, Jones, Wayne, Walthall, Marion, Lamar, Forrest, Perry, Greene, Pearl River, Stone, George, Hancock Harrison and Jackson counties, forty-three cases were acted upon. Forty of these appeals were for occupational reasons with four being granted deferments and one being returned for additional information. There were appeals for dependency with twenty being granted. A total of twenty-eight deferments were denied by appeal board No. 6 with fourteen deferments being granted during this meeting.

Appeals for dependency were exceptionally small in proportion to the total appeals made for the state. Only three of a total of forty-three were for dependency alone.

Colonel Lawrence W. Long, state director of selective service, stated that employers are cautioned to secure or train replacements for those registrants granted occupational deferments for periods of time, since this time is granted for the specific purpose of training or securing a replacement for the registrant who is now eligible for service in the armed forces.

CIVILIAN DEFENSE MEETING

Held Monday Afternoon at Courthouse—Mrs. Geo. R. Rea Elected Director

At a meeting of the Executive Board of the Volunteer Office of Civilian Defense held on Monday afternoon in the Courthouse, the organization regrettably accepted the resignation of Mr. A. E. Cox as director and unanimously elected Mrs. George R. Rea as Director with the following other officers: Mrs. S. A. Power was named Assistant Director; Mrs. C. C. McDonald was named Chairman of the Executive Committee and Kenneth G. McCarty was named Chairman of the Speakers' Bureau, replacing Mrs. Harold Weston who resigned.

Mrs. Eunice Casanova gave an explanation of the Civilian War Aid to be operated under the State Department of Welfare and for which an appropriation of several millions of dollars has been made by the Federal Social Security, strictly as a war measure and for giving emergency aid to families of civilian defense workers, stating that financial aid would be given persons requiring it for six months and would comprise rehabilitation of homes and other necessary aid, and the meeting went on record as favoring the acceptance of such federal aid.

Commissioner H. Grady Perkins told of the revised rules on air raid warning and stated that on Wednesday at 1 o'clock, the new siren signals would be blown.

Mrs. George R. Rea stated that possibly within the next week or so the Civilian Defense Office will have its one hundred blood donors and advice from Dr. Davenport as to just what date he will select for conducting a blood bank is awaited.

Mrs. Wayne Allison, Assistant to Dr. Shipp in the Public Health Department, who recently returned from New Orleans where he took a course in "Poison Gases and What They Mean to the Civilian Population" spoke interestingly on the knowledge he had received in this course, stating no one realizes the horrors of the poison gases on civilian populations and individuals, and stated that a population which has been trained and in readiness for an attack, is not likely to be attacked because an enemy realizes that ignorance of methods for combatting gas attacks is one of its greatest aids, and because it is the tremendous expense involved in poison gas warfare.

Mrs. J. R. Scharff, Chairman of the Citizens Service Corps, spoke of Mr. Elizey's visit in the interest of proposed tin can and fats scrap drives, stating the reason that fats had not been collected heretofore was because of the inability to secure proper containers, and stating also that proper instructions for the preparing and collecting of tin would be received shortly.

Mr. Perkins stated that Bay St. Louis expects to be host to the next quarterly meeting of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, the date of which will be publicized later and assured everyone that such a meeting was most interesting.

ATTACHED TO FERRY COMMAND

Chapman Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Marshall of this city, a veteran flyer at 22 years of age has been identified with aviation and yachting circles since a boy having flown since he was thirteen years of age, and at the age of sixteen was accredited with being the youngest licensed air plane pilot in the United States. He is now a second lieutenant in the United States Army Air Forces assigned to duty with the Ferry Command.

Lt. Marshall attended the Bay St. Louis public schools but in 1938 entered Staunton Military Academy and as a member of the R. O. T. C. there gained distinction for excellence in military studies and won the gold medal in the annual competitive drill. After leaving Staunton Military Academy in 1940 he enrolled in the freshman class of the Louisiana State University where he became a member of the cadet military organization known as the Pershing Rifles and obtained a commercial airplane pilot's license.

In 1941, yet too young to be qualified for a commission in the Army Air Corps, he left LSU to become an instructor of aviation in the civilian pilot program of the Civil Aeronautics Administration. Rated as a primary and secondary flight instructor, he, in the latter capacity, taught acrobatic flying and military maneuvers in the heavier flight equipment. After having taught these courses for some months he attended and graduated from the school of cross-country flying and navigation by radio, at Venice, Florida. Upon his graduation from the Venetian school, he rated by the civil aeronautics administration an instructor of cross-country flying and navigation and was appointed an official cross-country flight examiner.

From then until June 1942 he taught classes in night flying and cross-country and radio navigation for Chapman Air Service, an accredited school of advanced aviation which was established by his uncle, Henry Chapman, at New Orleans.

Lt. Marshall when he attained the age of 21 on October 5, 1941 applied for a commission in the United States Army Air Forces Ferry Command at Nashville, Tenn.

He was soon checked out as qualified to pilot cross-country the fastest and heaviest ships and he has ferried them from their factories to their bases in virtually all parts of the United States. In October he was sent with a four-motored bomber from Nashville, Tenn., to Nazareth, crossing the Atlantic from Brazil to the African Coast, and thence, flying across the African continent to Cairo, and around the eastern end to the Mediterranean to Palestine.

On his return to America, he was assigned to the four-engine school at Smyrna, Tenn. Upon finishing that school he was ordered to attend the school of Code Transmission and advanced instrument flying at St. Joseph Missouri from which he graduated on January 5.

He is a member of the fourth squadron of the Ferry Command with his base at the Municipal Airport at Memphis, Tenn.

MANY HEAR REVIEW By MRS. AIKEN

There were a large number out on Friday afternoon to hear Mrs. Warwick Aiken's splendid review of the timely and interesting book "Report From Tokyo" by J. C. Grew.

Mrs. Aiken had recently had the privilege of hearing Ambassador Grew in New Orleans and so the review came almost as a personal message from the author.

Throughout the review was a note of warning brought through the book from the author that Americans cannot afford to feel that the war is easy and the burden light. Mr. Grew's experience left no doubt in the minds of Mrs. Aiken's audience that he knows from whence he speaks and this made the review of inestimable value.

Two facts were forcibly impressed upon the minds of her hearers—the intense hatred of the Japs for the United States and that they are in perfect accord with Germany to rule the world.

It was also brought out the value to the American people of our allies—that we can't get along without Britain, Russia and China.

Mr. Grew said in the book that he is appalled at the expression "We'll mop up with the Japs." He says that Japan is a very formidable foe who are dangerous to our ultimate victory. The military group is utterly ruthless and determined to overcome the United States.

Japan's pretended desire to be understood is a desire to be understood on her own terms. How can a country like ours which has been fair in dealing with Japan understand a country that throws bombs on churches, hospitals, our embassy?

There was so much in this book which was so interestingly told but space will not permit more, but it should be the duty of every American citizen to read this message. There is a reason for Mr. Grew to be touring the country making public speeches and if it is not always convenient to hear him the book is available and should be read.

The review was an excellent review by a finished reviewer and a message to Americans besides and those who were fortunate enough to hear it are indebted to the library board for this privilege.

BUD'S LETTER

Well, my brother-in-law says I ain't much when it comes to thinking but I have always considered myself pretty smart. Now I'm bragging, but I have been doing lots of thinking lately. I may be crazy, but I still like to think to myself.

I like to think about—Freedom of speech—my inherent right to say you are wrong when and where I please.

The right to vote for whom I wish—the right of the American people to own and operate their own government, and even when they find they have made a mistake they still have the right of impeachment.

The government of, by, and for the people—the heritage of our forefathers—these are the things they fought and died for in 1776—our boys are fighting for the same thing in 1943.

My wife and two children still being able to smile and to know that we can expect a decent chance for life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness.

No other nation on the face of the earth can guarantee us as much as the U. S.—Plenty to eat and wear—the best people on earth—the finest land under cultivation.

A nation tied up in a bitter struggle, but still able to laugh—to have a good time—to go to shows—to put on the biggest hit show of all time using Army personnel as actors.

Thanksgiving and Christmas—Do Nazi and Jap children even know of God with all his kindness and mercy—Do they know brotherly love and forgiveness.

Our wonderful schools—where our children study the three R's instead of the five H's (Heil Hitler, hand held high).

Now Red, in my opinion these things are worth thinking about and then doing something about. The U. S. is a good place to be—Red—the air is good, the sunshine is good—the birds, cattle and chickens are beautiful—the roads are smooth—above all Red, the people are good; they are people I love to live with.

When I think about these things, the rationing of food, shoes and gasoline doesn't bother me. I can laugh and be happy, because I know these things won't last too long and we are fighting to get them back with a little interest.

I'd rather do without for two years than for no generations.

There's something else I love to think about—Red—the way that Russian Bear is squeezing Hitler.

JUDGE WILL T. McDONALD DIES AT MEMPHIS HOME

Was Former Resident, And Practiced Law Here— Moved To Memphis Years Ago.

Bay St. Louis was shocked on Friday of last week when the news of the death of Judge Will T. McDonald was flashed over the wires. Judge McDonald passed away quietly on the evening of Thursday, March 25 at his home in Memphis at 2038 Southern Avenue. Though he had been ill during the winter he had apparently recovered entirely and had spent Thursday afternoon at his office as usual. His daughter seeing a light from his study at 11 p. m. went to him and found him sitting at his desk, dead. He evidently died in the same calm peaceful way that he had lived.

Judge McDonald, a native Mississippian, was a native of Benton county and took his degree in law at the University of Mississippi. He edited a newspaper and also practiced law at Ashland, Miss. He came to Bay St. Louis approximately forty years ago and practiced law with the late Eaton J. Bowers and later in partnership with Carl Marshall. He held the office of Circuit Judge of this district for a number of years. He was the only survivor of the 113 members of the Mississippi Constitutional Convention in 1890.

Shortly after World War I the McDonalds moved to Memphis, Tenn., and Judge McDonald practiced law there with his son Percy McDonald. He and Mrs. McDonald celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary in November of last year.

Besides his wife the former Miss Lena Sondheim he leaves his son Percy, a daughter Mrs. Henry Yawn, Jr., both of Memphis; twin sisters, Mrs. Will Kimbrough and Miss Mary McDonald of Amarillo, Texas; a brother Dr. J. B. McDonald of Shelbyville, Tenn., and seven grandchildren.

In concluding the death of this princely Southern gentleman it is more than that of a former resident—it is the death of a friend of all who needed him, a friend of the town where he chose to cast his lot for a few years, it is the death of a man who lived for his family and who became a central figure in the civic and religious life of the town. His children attended the public schools here and his daughter was a member of the school faculty.

Of his very close friends here many have crossed the bar but they were waiting there to greet "The Judge" just as his two splendid sons who preceded him were there to be with their father.

There are few who live to the age of 83 but he bore his years with a surprising alertness of mind, and body and with his to comfort them his family should feel that he was in this blessed.

The Echo extends to them sympathy in their loss but a feeling of gladness in having known him.

LIFE LINE

It doesn't do any good to throw out a life line if you don't keep a firm grip on the other end. Our men serving with the armed forces in the combat zones are counting on us to hold our end of that line—the Red Cross life line that is their tie with home and family and our one tie with them.

When emergencies arise at home—problems of allotments that haven't come through, serious illness, business and financial difficulties, or the all-important letters have stopped coming and loved ones at home are worried about what may have happened, the Home Service unit of our own Red Cross chapter stands ready to start relief messages on their way to the front.

At the other end of the Red Cross line of rapid communication service are the Red Cross field directors serving wherever the U. S. armed forces are stationed. They are the consultants to whom the men may turn if they need assistance in solving problems—friends who have at their fingertips facilities for sending emergency messages back to the family at home.

With Red Cross field directors on the job on the war front and Red Cross Home Service on call on the home front, we are never really out of touch with the men in the battle areas.

It is through our Red Cross contributions that we keep this vital link unbroken. The men, thousands of miles away, who are fighting for us, are counting on us, the folks at home, to hold our end of that line.

We can't let them down! Let's give them all the help we can by contributing our full share to the 1943 RED CROSS WAR FUND now!

WILLIAM T. McDONALD

HAVING lived a richly full life marked for its understanding of his fellows, and having had more than the average man's share of adventure in the formative years of a section, it was only natural that Judge William T. McDonald should arrive at the end of an earthly sojourn with complete serenity yet still finding life good and work worth while.

It is an impossibility to write in sadness of the passing of such a man and he would not have it thus. He had been well blessed and knew it. He showed his appreciation by never finding time to be inactive. Born of pioneer Mississippi parents, he had served in turn as newspaper editor, postoffice inspector, lawyer, judge. At 83 he was still a practicing attorney and death found him not submissively abed, but busily doing what he knew best—working.

Judge McDonald was the last surviving of the 113 members of Mississippi's Constitutional Convention—that body which disposed of many terrible problems growing out of the Reconstruction period and which paved the way for Mississippi's new growth to present greatness.

He was primarily a man of family and one to emulate. The companion of his years with whom just a few months ago he celebrated a sixtieth marital anniversary is yet living. He believed in marriage as a holy institution and he lived his belief.

Age can be a very beautiful thing and it brought a great beauty into the face of Judge McDonald. Many things were engraved upon it—courage, honesty, gentility—the love of God's things—and above all the serenity we mentioned, the serenity born of knowledge of achievement in the homely and the worth-while things and of facing up, through all of a long life, into the sun. —Memphis Commercial Appeal.

CUTTING BAIT

THE phrase, "social security for everyone," is the new political bait being prepared to lure the voter. It is a fine sounding catch phrase.

There is something even greater than full-stomach social security, however. There is individual freedom—the right to do things for oneself.

Political social security that makes one a virtual ward of the state in return for a full stomach and a place to sleep, destroys freedom.

Government can only "give" to the people what it first takes away from them. It can tax or confiscate savings and redistribute them under the guise of equalization of wealth.

But a nation will starve if a majority of the people do not have the individual ambition and incentive to work, and save, and produce new wealth continuously to take care of themselves and that small percentage of unfortunate individuals who will always be wards of the state, and who should be cared for much better than they now are.

Political planning of the lives of all the people in a nation can be carried too far, just as can parental planning of the lives of children—we face that danger in our country. The planners and spenders are beginning to outnumber the workers and the savers.

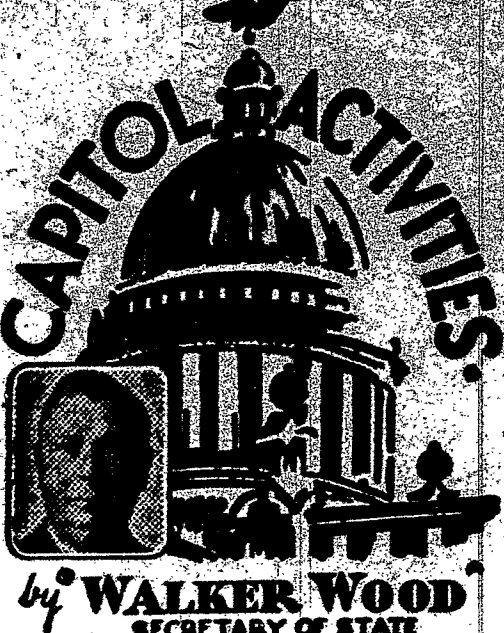

A good speaker knows when not to speak and what not to say.

There are so many things that escape the wise men that it is not strange that we miss a few of them ourselves.

Buying War Bonds is a necessary home-front activity; every American should be a partner in financing the war.

One of the things that we aspire to attain is a 40-hour work week; we can then use our other forty working hours as we wish.

Victory Gardens are underway all over the United States which is a sign that millions of people will augment their food supplies.

Poultry Plant

The Boyd Poultry Dressing plant, domiciled at Houston, is now operating and last week shipped several thousand pounds of dressed poultry to the Memphis market. After the shipment was received the Boyd plant at Houston received a wire saying it was the finest shipment of poultry ever to reach the Memphis market and placed his order for 7,500 pounds more. It seems that plants of this kind are being installed in different sections of the state and they will render material help to the war effort along the food line.

Victory Gardens

The victory garden idea has developed into a national movement and all over the country gardens are being planted. The sum total of all these small gardens will mean a lot as a whole. A very small space of ground just a few square feet, will produce something to eat and every little article of food produced in the back yard garden will help to feed some soldier or civilian and make it easier for all to have something to eat. Reports from over the state indicate that Mississippi is taking a very lively interest in the "Victory Garden."

Scrap Collection

Those in authority have announced that from October 23rd to March 1, Mississippi has gathered up and turned in 42 million pounds of scrap for the government. The greater part of the scrap has been paid for, hence the campaign for the collection of scrap has resulted in bringing a considerable amount of cash to the state and at the same time has helped the government materially.

Mad Dogs

Dr. E. S. Brashier, state veterinary surgeon, and Frank Scott, sheriff, are warning the people of Jackson and surrounding sections to be on the look out for mad dogs. Several have appeared in Hinds County within the past few days. Many dogs several head of livestock and a few children have been bitten.

Food Proclamation

Gov. Johnson has endorsed by proclamation a nation-wide drive for more food production in the state. This is a part of a program backed by Secretary Wickard of the agricultural department for "More Food for Freedom." It is recognized and conceded now that the volume of food must be materially increased if the war is to be won any time soon. Soldiers cannot fight without an abundance of good food and civilians can not do their best behind the lines unless they are well nourished.

Cotton Crop

The final ginner's report issued last week places the cotton crop of 1942 at 12,821,414 bales averaging 500 pounds each. The report shows that Mississippi produced 1,967,247 bales, this being the second largest crop in the history of the state, and on account of the price the 1942 crop was the most valuable crop in the state's history. The largest crop the state ever produced was in 1937 when the total reached 2,562,000 running bales.

Wants Peanuts

The government is asking the state of Mississippi to plant 132,000 acres in peanuts this year. The Mississippi Experiment Station at State College, has issued a new bulletin on peanut planting and culture which farmers should have if they contemplate planting peanuts.

Vital Statistics

The State Board of Health, in the Division of Vital Statistics, has on file in the main office at Jackson 5,561,041 records pertaining to births, deaths, marriages, divorces, etc. Of this number 1,540,610 are birth records; 1,290,630 are marriage records; 681,750 are death certificates; and 48,051 are divorce records. These records are so well arranged that the information desired on these subjects may be found in a few moments.

Land Patents

Chapter 235 Laws of 1942, pertaining to land sales by the State Land Commissioner, provides that sales made must be filed with the chancery clerk of the county in which the land is located within six months after the sale or the sale becomes null and void. The Attorney General has ruled that the six months limit does not apply to sales made prior to the enactment of the new law, which was approved on March 21, 1942. The records in the office of the Secretary of State show that a good volume of land sales have been made by Commissioner McCullen in the past several weeks.

One of the largest oil drilling projects is located in Humphreys County, two or three miles north of Belzoni. This is a new area but the structure offers encouragement for drilling and the test will be watched with interest. Oil and Gas Supervisor, H. W. Morse, keeps well up with all drilling and all development.

Reaping Around

The final ginner's report gives Bolivar County 166,963 running bales for the 1942 crop and Sunflower 1941 with 1888 deaths.

Dana King Speaks Before Bay Rotary Club

President Howard LeTissier The members of the Rotary Club were given a real treat Wednesday at their regular noon luncheon. Dana King of Gulfport, gave a most enlightening talk on the "Activities of the Red Cross."

We appreciate the fact that the ramifications of this organization are many and varied, but it never entered my mind for a moment, to consider them from the standpoint of their magnitude, just cold facts and figures make dull reading, likewise, unless handled by someone with ability, make a poor subject for a speech. But Dana, has that rare ability, necessary to weave a story around a dull subject. In the end, the people that donate to the Red Cross, naturally feel that they are stockholders and are entitled to be told how their money is spent. If they would receive this information in printed form, they wouldn't even read it. But, when you are privileged to get these figures in an interesting manner, they really soak in.

One point of exceptionally local interest that Dana brought out, had to do with the full page in the Echo, each week that gives the names of all the boys that are in the service. He noted, that this list continues to grow, month by month. That these young men are leaving our community, gradually, but surely and that more will continue to leave. But when they are on the shores of foreign lands or in the front lines, the greatest Mother of all will be there to serve them, because the Red Cross is always at the front, any time, where, that a humanitarian deed may be done.

A voluntary offering was taken and while not all the members were present, more than Thirty Dollars was subscribed, so I think the Club will easily raise their quota.

Officers and a Board of Directors for the ensuing year were elected, as follows:

President—Howard LeTissier.
Vice-President—Horace Kergosien.
Sec. & Treas.—Dick Shadoin.
Board of Directors:
Dor Evans
Al Cox
Ted Robin
Hon. Gregory
Howard LeTissier
Horace Kergosien

Experiences of Private Geo. Soule, Jr.

A recent paper carried the account of the experience of Private George Soule, Jr., who is at his home on a thirty day sick leave to recuperate from jungle fever. Pvt. Soule whose parents live at 4825 Carondelet St., New Orleans volunteered and was sworn into the United States Marine Corps in 1942 when he was 18. He was a high school senior at St. Stanislaus. He is now with the Carlson Raiders U. S. M. C. and his unit was cited for bravery.

This is some of Pvt. Soule's experiences: "Shortly after I arrived at Guadalcanal, a native was leading a column of us through a trail when he suddenly walked into a group of Japs who were cooking a hog. They shot the native and we killed all the Japs. It was the first time in my life I ever saw anyone killed." "The Marines make the Japs look sick when it comes to marksmanship. One day we saw some Japs coming across a field. We were hiding in the bushes and our stomachs growled. The colonel sent word down the line not to fire until they got closer but the word did not reach us until we had mowed them all down." "Lieutenant James Roosevelt, who was decorated for bravery at the Makin Island raid, was Private Soule's executive officer at Oahu, Hawaii.

FORMS PILGRIMAGE OF PRAYER

A number of ladies living in the Cedar Point community have formed a pilgrimage of prayer which takes place on Tuesday evenings at four o'clock when the services are devoted to Our Blessed Mother and on Friday evenings at four o'clock when the prayers are devoted to the Most Sacred Heart of Jesus, and on every Sunday morning at 8:30 Mass; most of them receive Holy Communion. These prayers are offered for the safety and return of the boys in service and anyone of any denomination wishing to participate in the pilgrimage is welcome. The ladies each give a small amount of cash to be deposited to St. Joseph Chapel where the masses and prayers are said.

County comes up with 161,994 bales, these two counties being Mississippi's greatest cotton producing counties.

The Mississippi State Medical Association will hold its annual meeting in Jackson during the month of May. It has been announced that hunters and anglers harvested 250,000,000 pounds of game meat in 1942 and in the same season 300,000,000 pounds of fish, the contribution to the nation's meat-larder. The volume of freight carried by the railroad of the United States in 1942 reached an all-time high of 630 billion tons. Life Magazine recently featured an old-time Hoop-skirt party as held in the South in the olden days, the scene of the party being in and around one of the fine old mansions in Columbus. Dr. Whitfield of the State Board of Health predicts a reduction in the death rate in the state this year and cites the figures for January 1943, which had a total of 1654 deaths from all causes, as compared to January 1941 with 1888 deaths.

Farm Legislation

As we have repeatedly pointed out in this column, the farm and food problem has been giving the Congress and, more lately, the Administration considerable concern. Much discussion and many plans have been had and suggested. Up to this time this has taken form in the passage by the House of the so-called Pace Bill and the Bankhead Bill. The Senate on the other hand, has passed the Bankhead Bill but has not as yet passed the Pace Bill, although the Senate Agriculture Committee unanimously reported the Pace Bill.

The Pace Bill is merely a reiteration of legislation formerly passed by the Congress of the policy of requiring the increased cost of farm labor to be considered in arriving at the parity price for agricultural commodities. When this Bill was passed before the President vetoed it, and it is now thought that he will again veto it should the Senate pass it and the bill come to his desk. The Bankhead Bill, on the other hand, would further amend the formula for parity prices by excluding the Agricultural Adjustment payments in arriving at parity prices. Should these two bills become law the farmers' income would be considerably increased. In fact, his production would bring several billion dollars more than it did last year under the old formula of parity prices, where neither the increased cost of labor and the AAA payments were not thus considered.

As is generally known, the Administration is opposed to this legislation and is now laying its plans to sustain a Presidential veto by threatening Congress with the state of emergency if these bills become law they will then open the door for uncontrolled inflation; that labor will then be justified in asking for increased wages; and that the cost of living will continue to rise. This all sounds very plausible, but the trouble with this line of reasoning is that the farmer is not now on a parity basis with the industrial and war worker. In other words wages of the industrial and war worker have risen all out of proportion to the price which the farmer receives for his products. And it is to correct this situation that the Congress has passed the Pace and Bankhead Bills.

Should the President permit these two Bills the Pace and Bankhead Bills to become the law of the land if and when the Congress passes them, labor and the farmer would be on somewhat of a parity basis, and then the Administration's argument would have more justification and be more logically sound.

It is thought by some that the Administration is using the threatened strike of the coal miners now being engineered by John L. Lewis as a club over the heads of Congress; and that should these aids to agriculture become the law the Administration

The rest-pause that refreshes
Welcome in peace...
more welcome in war work

IN letter after letter from war plants and factories, managers write in to tell how important they consider Coca-Cola in providing energy-giving refreshment for workers... in helping output and morale. Of course, workers in war plants welcome a res-pause... with ice-cold Coca-Cola to make it the pause that refreshes.

Ice-cold Coca-Cola quenches thirst. But it goes further to add pure, wholesome refreshment that you feel and enjoy. Made with a finished art, Coca-Cola has a taste all its own... a goodness you always welcome.

Popularity with war-workers has made Coca-Cola the symbol of the rest-pause. And remember only The Coca-Cola Company produces Coca-Cola.

Letters from plant managers from coast to coast emphasize that the little moment for an ice-cold Coca-Cola means a lot to workers in war plants. It's a refreshing moment on the sunny side of things... a way to turn to refreshment without turning from work.

A breathing spell, a rest-pause... Ice-cold Coca-Cola. Contentment comes when you meet with a Coke.

The best is 5¢ always the better buy!

and Presenting "MARGARET" O'BRIEN
Directed by M. W. VAN DYKE II
Produced by R. P. FINEMAN

ORTTE THEATER A "JOURNEY FOR MARGARET"

Starring Laraine Day, Fay Bainter and Robert Young

The way that "Mrs. Miniver" depicted the effect of the war upon the people of England, so does "Journey for Margaret." The same understanding, the reserve, the realism and the plainness of performance yield the same effectiveness.

"Journey for Margaret," cost less to make and takes less time to screen than "Mrs. Miniver" but it had the same effect upon a preview audience which witnessed it in the same studio projection room in Hollywood. It is in no sense a duplication or follow-up, but it employs the same techniques to obtain a like end.

Robert Young surpasses himself as an American correspondent stationed in London during the bombings, one of which injures his wife (Laraine Day) in such wise as to thwart impending motherhood. He stays on after she returns to America and interests himself in caring for children orphaned by the bombers, two of whom attach themselves to him emotionally. He adopts them and brings them to America. The manner of the doing of these things distinguishes them beyond the promise of this or any synopsis.

Producer B. P. Fineman, director W. S. Van Dyke II, scenarists David Hertz and William Ludwig, and author William L. White share credit enough for thrice their number.

Naval Aviation Training Still Open To 17-Year-Olds

From a statement issued this morning by Lt. Commander L. C. Priestman, Officer-in-charge, of the Naval Aviation training unit at least June 30. It seems likely that applicants will be accepted after June 30, but at the present time no quotas have been set for later than that date.

Under present conditions boys who are enlisted in V-5 before April 15 will have an opportunity to qualify for the Navy's V-12 program which will give them an additional year or more at college before they begin their flight training. However, all boys who qualify for Naval Aviation in Class V-5 will be commissioned as ensigns in the Naval Reserve after they have completed their flight training and have earned their "Navy Wings." Eligible boys who are interested in Naval Aviation should write the Naval Aviation Cadet election board, 910 Canal Building, New Orleans.

Party For Colored Service Men

On Friday, March 26th at 8 p. m. the colored service men were entertained with a grand party at the St. Rose Recreation Center, under the leadership of Natalie Piermas, Lilian Raboleau and Genevieve Rieux, volunteer workers. Basketball, pool and other social games were the chief activities. Punch and cakes were served freely. The Victory Meads were present to help make it pleasant for the men. About 150 service men attended. They had a wonderful time and appreciated Bay St. Louis' hospitality very much. We extend deep thanks to all who contributed to help make the party possible.

The Production Department of the Hancock Chapter of the American Red Cross is in receipt of a shipment of khaki wool with which to make sleeveless sweaters and anyone desiring to knit a sweater, will please call at the Production Room in the Knights of Columbus Hall, or telephone 81 and a member of the Motor Corps will deliver the wool to persons who are unable to call for it.

The Production Department also has a very large quota of men's shirts to be made up and volunteers for sewing these shirts are badly needed.

This is what Lieutenant James C. Whitaker, co-pilot of the plane carrying the Rickenbacker party when it was lost at sea, says about Red Cross.

"The first person we saw when we reached the base was Red Cross Field Director John Dutton. He walked right up to us and said, 'Boys what do you need?'"

"We needed plenty—from the inside out. What we had inside us was a big worry about our families at home and whether they knew we were safe. After John Dutton had put us under the doctor's care at the base hospital, the first thing he did was to arrange personal cables for every man to send to his family through the Red Cross. The happiest day of my life was four days later when I lay in that hospital bed and John Dutton handed me the cable my wife had sent me through the Red Cross.

"Dutton made a list of our needs and went out and scoured the island for us. When he returned to the hospital he had enough clothes with him to start a small store. "It was just as if he had read our minds, and that is the way the Red Cross did everything for us during the whole 17 days we were there. All we had to do was to think of something and it would be supplied to us. The Red Cross loaned us money, as much as we needed—without interest. And after rounding out the job of complete rehabilitation, they turned on lots of good cheer for us and made our days at the hospital one of the pleasantest visits we have ever had, anywhere.

"I can't say too much for the Red Cross. It helped us out of our jam, as it is helping thousands of other fellows out of other jams at this moment. The Red Cross doesn't care who you are. As far as they are concerned there is only one thing—you are in trouble. Then they start going to town for you."

Is there anything to add to this? Isn't it comforting to parents to know that their boys have the friend they have in the Red Cross. Note that Lt. Whitaker says "The Red Cross doesn't care who you are." People are apt to want to help some person in whom they are especially interested but those in trouble are all God's children as far as the Red Cross is concerned.

If you have put off contributing to the War Fund read this and then do all that you can to bring the amount to $5700. The drive will not close now so there is still time to do your part in this humanitarian appeal.

The names of the donors will appear in the next issue of the Sea Coast Echo and we hope there will be no names of those who should and can give omitted from the list.

The truth of the quotation "Cast your bread upon the waters and after many days it will return to you" is proven by the Red Cross because, though it may not return to you personally it does return in the service the Red Cross renders to the armed forces who are fighting to maintain our freedom.

In view of the fact that the theaters have designated the first week of April as Red Cross War Fund Week the Hancock County drive has been extended to April 15.

The drive is progressing nicely and contributions are coming rapidly.

Men are dying for the Four Freedoms. The least we can do here at home is to buy War Bonds—10% for War Bonds, every pay day.

"STAR SPANGLED RHYTHM" AT A. & G. SUN-MON. & TUESDAY

Every Paramount Star On The Lot Featured in This Film

More than forty top ranking stars in one picture is something of a record, even for Fabulous Hollywood, but that is the score Paramount runs up with its show of shows, "Star Spangled Rhythm," which is due to entertain Bay St. Louis next Sunday and Monday at the A. & G. Theater.

Definitely the field day of field days for movie fans, "Star Spangled Rhythm" boasts among its players Bing Crosby, Bob Hope, Fred MacMurray, Franchot Tone, Ray Milland, Victor Moore, Dorothy Lamour, Pamela Gidley, Vera Zornina, Mary Martin, Dick Powell, Betty Hutton, Eddie Bracken, Veronica Lake, Alan Ladd, and Rochester, with William Bendix, Jerry Colonna, Macdonald Carey, Walter Abel, Susan Hayward, Marjorie Reynolds, Betty Rhodes, Don Drake, Lynne Overman, Gary Crosby, Johnnie Johnston, Gil Lamb, Cass Daley, Ernest Truax, Katherine Dunham, Arthur Treacher, Walter Catlett, Sterling Holloway, the Golden Gate Quartette, Walter Dore Wahl and Company. And if that weren't enough to amaze and delight moviegoers, they will also be able to see three top Paramount directors turn out for the occasion—Cecil B. DeMille, Preston Sturges, Ralph Murphy.

With a lineup of talent such as that listed above, it is easy to believe reports that "Star Spangled Rhythm" is the greatest, truly all-star musical comedy ever produced by any movie studio.

The story kernel of "Star Spangled Rhythm" concerns the efforts of Paramount studio gateman, Victor Moore, and telephone operator Betty Hutton, to build themselves up to Moore's sailor son, Eddie Bracken, by deceiving him into believing that the old man is head of the studio, and Betty his secretary. The deception is a cinch by correspondence but it becomes something less than that when Eddie and a group of sailor pals show up in Los Angeles on shore leave. Eddie promising his friends the time of their lives at the studio.

Betty conceives a crack-brained idea of how to continue the deception for the duration of the boys' leave, as well as to put on a show for them with Paramount's roster of stars participating. Betty's idea backfires hilariously in Moore's face, although the show does go on, stupendously.

In seeing "Star Spangled Rhythm" fans will not only be treated to what promises to be a really sensational show, but will enjoy what amounts to a personal tour of the Paramount studio, and in these days of travel curtailment, it's a great convenience to be able to visit Hollywood by simply buying a ticket to the A. & G. Theater.

Got to talking the other day in Sam Abernethy's store about these scrap collections, when a stranger horned in.

"These scrap collections are the bunk," he says. "The stuff they're gathering ain't no good for making steel."

At that point Sam steps in. "Just a minute, stranger," he says. "Where'd you get them so-called facts you're quoting? Name your authority, sir," he says, "or else keep quiet!"

And the way that man hauled and hauled I decided Sam knew how to handle folks who misquote information.

Sweetpotatoes

Join the Fight for FREEDOM

Nation's 1943 Sweetpotato Goal Is 1,000,000 Acres

Uncle Sam is calling for a million acres of sweetpotatoes in 1943 to help provide food for our people at home and our armies and allies abroad. The 1943 goal represents an increase of 41 per cent over the 707,000 acres harvested in the United States last year.

Speaking to 10,000 Mississippians at Tylertown last fall Lieutenant Windham, of the U. S. Navy, said "many a Mississippi sweetpotato has gone into hardening the muscles of the marines who stormed the Solomon Islands; they have given strength to those men who cleared the Coral Sea of slant-eyed rats; they have given fortification and extra ounces of courage to those boys who blasted the aggressor at Midway."

Mississippi's Goal Is 95,000 Acres

Mississippi's sweetpotato goal has been increased from 70,000 acres to 95,000 acres. When our farmers realize how sweetpotatoes are helping to win the war, they will achieve or exceed the goal.

Mississippi sweetpotatoes have long been a favorite food because of their fine flavor and high nutritive value. Now comes the food scientist to tell us that sweetpotatoes excel Irish potatoes in fat content, in minerals, in sugar, in starch, in total food value per pound, and on top of that are rich in vitamin A.

Hancock County's 1943 Goal Is 300 Acres

Farmers know how to grow sweetpotatoes. The government is expected to support potato prices at profitable levels. Every farmer is asked to grow and market all the sweetpotatoes he can.

HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS FOR OBTAINING MAXIMUM YIELDS

The Mississippi Extension Service offers the following suggestions to growers. Plan your sweetpotato production now. Select well drained sandy loam or silt loam soil which has not had sweetpotatoes grown on it for the last three or four years. Prepare the soil by plowing now. Apply 600 to 800 pounds of 4-8-8 or 4-8-4 fertilizer in drill and form beds about ten days before setting plants.

Select certified, disease free seed of the yellow or red type sweet potatoes for bedding. Porto Rico and Nancy Hall are popular varieties. The Porto Rico is preferred. Treat all seed with either bichloride of mercury, 4 ounces to 30 gallons of water for 10 minutes, or use Semesan Bel, according to directions. Use new soil or sand in bedding seed. Five bushels of seed should produce enough plants to set one acre. If you do not have certified seed of the right variety buy plants from certified growers.

Set plants 12 to 15 inches apart in field after danger of frost is past. Cultivate clean until vines cover the ground. Keep beds high. Plan to build a curing house. Consult your county agent about harvesting, curing and marketing.

M. H. Wynhoven accompanied the honorary Canon Very Rev. Father A. J. Gmelch, rector of the Holy Church at Bay St. Louis to Mississippiana.
 His great surprise Rev. Father received the visit last Saturday of one of the best writers of the country, Right Rev. Mgr. M. H. Wynhoven accompanied by Rev. Andrew J. Gmelch. The Right Rev. is the rector of Our Lady of the Sacred Heart in New Orleans. He had preached two remarkable sermons on the Mississippi Gulf Coast, at Biloxi and one at Bay St. Louis. He has to his credit (as recorded by the Sea Coast Echo last week) five books as an author which have been seen materialized a life-long and cherished dream—in the planning and successful establishing of the Haven and Madonna Manor, a home for boys and girls at Marroero, Mis-
 sissippiana.
 His masterly writings on the most practical questions or topics of the day are reproduced in the most reliable Catholic newspapers of the South.
 His latest book entitled: "Lord, Save Us Perish," is a most practical and will decidedly produce admirable fruits in the special gardens for which it is intended and has been said that the author's style is like the author character, full and to the point.
